

Design by MARGARITA BRAVO
Photography by TAHVORY BUNTING

Design by MARGARITA BRAVO
Photography by TIA CURRAN

Margarita Bravo Says:

Retro Paired with Futuristic Design

The idea of combining both vintage and retro with digital art inspired by the Metaverse will continue to trend into the next year.

Based on the 2023 Gucci collection, interior design will follow suit in creating retro atmospheres paired with a futuristic aesthetic, creating new designs and settings with an interesting new style. Vintage, retro pieces, traditional materials, and fabrications will continue to be used in contemporary ways. Think embellished and tactile wallpaper, crystal embellishments, floral appliques, Victorian ruffles, leather adornments, and velvets as accessories in a contemporary home. Now infuse these accessories with bold colors and shapes and use them as accents in furniture. Some may wonder how they can incorporate a vintage accessory with modern design elements, and the answer is simple: utilize a color palette. Whether you are trying to match a modern coffee table with a vintage sofa, or beautiful floral wallpaper with a modern leather loveseat, sticking to a cohesive color palette will allow for an all-around harmonious design.